ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, we thank the Almighty for being our light and for showering his gracious blessings throughout the course of this project.

I am grateful to our beloved Dean-Academics Dr. Manju P & Dean-Administration Dr R Ramesh Kumar for their tireless and relentless support.

I am our sincere thanks to our Head of the Department Dr.S.Siamala Devi for her encouragement and inspiration.

I am greatly indebted to our Industry Mentor E.NandaKumar & Project guide M.Malathi Assistant Professor, Department of Information Technology for their valuable guidance and suggestions in all aspects that aided us to ameliorate our skills.

We are thankful to all those who have directly and indirectly extended their help to us in completing this project work successfully.

ABSTRACT

ABSTRACT

RED Panda is a boom in the modern business. It means electronic commerce. RED Panda involves buying of goods and services over an electronic network , predominantly the Internet. E-commerce (Electronic commerce) is a paradigm shift influencing both marketers and the customers. It is leading a complete change in traditional way of doing business. This significant change in business model is witnessing a tremendous growth around the globe and India is not an exception. A massive internet penetration has added to growth of E-commerce and more particularly start-ups have been increasingly using this option as a differentiating business model.

Moreover E-Commerce has significant influences on the environment. Although the model is highly used in current business scenario but the option has not been explored at its fullest. The current research has been undertaken to describe the scenario of E-Commerce, analyze the trends of E-Commerce.

INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

This chapter describes the customers to choose a product or service they want from any supplier around the world from their home.

PURPOSE OF THE APP:

An e-commerce website is one that allows people to buy and sell physical goods, services, and digital products over the internet rather than at a brick-and-mortar location. Through an e-commerce website, a business can process orders, accept payments, manage shipping and logistics, and provide customer service.

1.1 PROBLEM DEFINITION

The history of ecommerce started over 40 years ago, when the introduction of early technology like Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) and teleshopping in the 1970s paved the way for the modern-day ecommerce store as we know it today.

The history of ecommerce is closely intertwined with the history of the internet. Online shopping became possible when the internet was opened to the public in 1991. Amazon was one of the first ecommerce sites in the US to start selling products online and thousands of businesses have followed since.

The convenience, safety, and enjoyable user experience of ecommerce have improved exponentially since the inception of online shopping. In his article, we will discuss some of the key players and milestones of ecommerce. As more and more people began doing business online, a need for secure communication and transactions became apparent. In 2004, the Payment Card Industry Security Standards Council (PCI) was formed to ensure businesses were complying with various security requirements. The organization was created for the development, enhancement, storage, dissemination and implementation of security standards for protecting customer account data .

1.2 OVERVIEW

At its core, electronic commerce or e-commerce is simply the buying and selling of goods and services using the internet, when shopping online. However, the term is often used to describe all of a seller's efforts, when selling products directly to consumers. It starts when a potential customer learns about a product and continues through purchase, use, and, ideally, ongoing customer loyalty. Data powers the most successful e-commerce operations, which take advantage of best practices such as targeted email marketing, audience segmentation, and marketing automation. For example, following up with a customer when selling online after they have placed an item in an online shopping cart but didn't complete the transaction can significantly increase your likelihood of making the sale.

1.3 OBJECTIVES

A site's goals and objectives are similar in concept but different in detail. Site goals generally focus on what the site wants to achieve e.g. increasing traffic, whereas site objectives usually focus on what the site must achieve e.g. meeting the requirements of a certain search engine.

Often, site goals are more general while site objectives are more specific and detailed. It is important to keep these differences in mind when developing site goals and objectives.

REQUIRMENT SPECIFICATION

2.CHAPTER

REQUIRMENT SPECIFICATION

2.1 SOFTWARE REQUIREMENTS

- IDE: Visual Studio Code
- PLATFORM:HTML Text Editor like Notepad or text editor

2.2 CONSTRAINTS

- SOFTWARE CONSTRAINTS:
 - 1.The website will be hosted on a secure web server with reliable uptime and bandwidth.
 2. The system have word processor.

2.3 ASSUMPTIONS

- The website will feature an intuitive and user-friendly interface.
- The website will employ a secure payment processing to ensure the protection of user data.
- The content management system will be used to manage the website's content.
- The website will feature a comprehensive support system to assist users with any questions or issues.
- The website will feature an effective engine to allow readers to quickly find access titles.

DESIGN

CHAPTER 3

DESIGN

3.1 MODULES OF RED Panda

3.1.1 Login Module

- This module will feature Google Sign-In.
- Using Java script, this module has a valid email and password.
- This module will feature forgot password option.

3.1.2 Home Module

- This module will feature search the gift and toys.
- The module includes a select option.
- The module uses a navigation bar to give users quick access to the different categories within a website.

3.1.3 Gift Module

- The module also has search option.
- This module has a buy option that leads to the details module.

3.1.4 Toy Module

- The module also has search option.
- This module has a buy option that leads to the details module.

3.1.5 Details Module

- This module has the detail description about the product .
- This module has a wishlist and share option that enables users to get updates on the products.
- This module has buy now option which leads to the delivery module.

3.1.5 Delivery Module

- The module shows the order summary.
- This module will feature a track order lists.
- Users will be having a valid card number and ccv number to access the software

CHAPTER 4

TESTING

This report describes the test plan for the e-commerce application. The purpose of this document is to provide an overview of the testing process, outline what needs to be tested and how it will be done. In addition, the risks associated with testing are discussed as well as any assumptions made when developing the test plan.

4.1 PURPOSE OF TESTING

eCommerce testing can be defined as the process of testing various eCommerce website elements such as design, specifications, functionalities, pages, and features to check their sanity and ensure they're not harming the performance of the site in any manner possible. Non-functional tests include security testing (e.g. against data breach or unauthorized access), performance testing (e.g. response time under load), usability testing (e.g. ease of use, user interface design) and compatibility testing (e.g. with different operating systems or device).

The following areas were also tested:

- User Interface (UI): This included testing the navigation, layout, and design of all screens within the app.
- Usability: This involved evaluating how easy it was to complete tasks within the app.
- Functionality: This examined whether specific features worked correctly when activated or interacted with by users.
- Performance: This assessed how quickly different parts of the app responded to user input.

4.2 TEST PLAN

The test plan will include a mix of testing

1. automated tests to cover the scope outlined in Section
2. Manual tests will be performed by testers using the application on various platforms, while automated tests will be performed using tools such as Selenium and Appium to simulate a real-world usage scenario.

The test plan should also include regression testing to ensure that any new features do not break existing functionality or introduce bugs into the system.

4.3 RISKS AND ASSUMPTION

Risks associated with this testing process include potential data loss due to incorrect or incomplete testing or improper implementation of the test plan. In addition, there is a risk that the application may not be compatible with certain operating systems or devices, which may lead to unexpected results. Assumptions made in developing this test plan include that all user features have been implemented correctly and are ready for testing.

4.4 CONCLUSION

This report outlines the test plan for the e-commerce application and discusses the risks involved, as well as any assumptions made during its development. The scope of tests includes both functional and non-functional tests, using both manual and automated methods to ensure comprehensive coverage of all features for users. This test plan should provide a solid foundation for successful testing of your e-commerce application.

CONCLUSION AND FUTURE SCOPE

CHAPTER 7

CONCLUSION AND FUTURE SCOPE

7.1 CONCLUSION

RED Panda built for people who can get their order within 24 hours. One can access this app by login using their email and password Online selling and purchasing offer innumerable benefits to both sellers and buyers, and these advantages are also the reasons for the rising scope of eCommerce.

As of 2017, the total value of the e-commerce business in India was USD 38.5 billion, according to IBEF, and it is expected to hit USD 200 billion by 2026. That gives us a good idea about the future scope of e-commerce in India.

7.2 FUTURE ENHANCEMENT

RED Panda provides detailed descriptions of their products so that the customers have a clear idea. Many websites also provide feedbacks that other users have given. This helps in assuring other prospective customers. It also makes payment easier since it can be easily done online. The scope of eCommerce looks like it will be increasing for a long time. We have seen online businesses grow with globalization as it facilitated the easy shipping of products all over the world. Covid seems to have further helped online businesses grow today. People in large number are doing online shopping today, and it is not only because it is convenient as one can shop from home, but also because there is an ample number of varieties available, with a high competition of prices, and also it is easy to navigate for searching regarding any particular item.

END USER INSTRUCTIONS

8.END USER INSTRUCTION

After the system is implemented successfully, training of the user is one of the most important subtasks of the developer. For this purpose user manuals are prepared and handled over to the user to operate the developed system. Thus the users are trained to operate the developed system. Both the hardware and software securities are made to run the developed systems successfully in future.

In order to put new application system into use, the following activities were taken care of:

- Preparation of user and system documentation
- Conducting user training with demo and hands on
- Test run for some period to ensure smooth switching over the system .

The users are trained to use the newly developed functions. User manuals describing the procedures for using the functions listed on menu are circulated to all the users. It is confirmed that the system is implemented up to users need and expectations.
